Summerdown Pure Mint

A small sprig of fresh mint leaves with several green leaves and a reddish stem, positioned above the brand name.

English mint At the beginning of the 20th century, England was renowned for producing the best mint in the world – the French still call peppermint menthe Anglaise, or English mint. Over the years, imports of cheaper varieties brought about a decline in cultivation.

Summerdown It took more than a decade to bring traditional Black Mitcham peppermint home to the UK – and revive the clean, fresh taste of English peppermint for the 21st century. We relearnt lost mint farming skills from America and combined them with the latest production technology at our farm in the foothills of the Hampshire downs.

The taste of pure English mint revived for the 21st century

Pure peppermint oil When our mint fields have been harvested, the leaves are taken to our purpose-built distillery. The result is a rare single estate peppermint oil, with consistent quality and a soft, lingering taste. It has a cooler, more intense flavour and scent than other varieties – a property that also makes it highly-prized by aromatherapists.

A different taste This is mint as your grandparents and great-grandparents would have known it – a taste that has been lost for generations. Fresh, smooth and bright, it is very different from the harsher, blended, imported peppermint of the past 60 years.

Our chocolates and teas Mint is valued for its digestive and calming qualities, while chocolate was the Incas' food of the Gods, so it's no wonder that our peppermint chocolates are award-winners. Our mint teas are prize-winners too – a refreshing alternative to the traditional brew, with an aromatic flavour that truly lifts your spirits.

The scent of the English countryside

Our fragrances Our combinations of natural peppermint, lavender and camomile bring the great outdoors into your home.

“Like wine, the vats of Summerdown Pure Mint oil must be left for over a year to mature and settle; like wine, the balance of flavours must be perfect.” The Observer Food Monthly
