

PRESS RELEASE

September 2010

Summerdown adds spearmint and camomile tea to its range of traditional English mint products

Few things are as quintessentially English as a refreshing cup of tea – and this month Summerdown has added a spearmint and camomile variety to its growing range of deliciously traditional English mint products.

As with our award-winning peppermint tea, we have used only the finest ingredients from our farm in the foothills of the Hampshire downs. After the camomile flowers are harvested and dried, they are infused with pure spearmint oil from our own distillery. The result is a restorative, refreshing and light combination that has long been valued for its digestive and calming properties.

During the decade it has taken us to reintroduce traditional mint to England, Summerdown has relearned lost cultivational skills and combined them with the latest technology. As a result, we have perfected the art of distilling rare, single estate essential oils from mint and herbs grown and harvested on the farm.

These oils are used in all Summerdown products, from our award-winning peppermint chocolates to our English peppermint tea – a two-star gold winner in the Great Taste Awards 2009. It gives them their unique and timeless taste of the English countryside.

See our website for a full product list.

– Ends –

Media enquiries:

Anthony Terry on 020 8354 4577 or email press@summerdownmint.com

www.summerdownmint.com

The taste of pure English mint revived for the 21st century